

RUSSIANS ARE
NOW DESPERATEWould Leave Port Arthur With Their Troops
If They Could Do So.

TO SURRENDER WITH ALL HONOR

Rumor That General Stoessel Would Depart From the Stricken City if Given the Opportunity To Do So.London, June 4.—The Rome correspondent telegraphs:"A Tokyo dispatch says that the Japanese have occupied the first line of the outer fortifications of Port Arthur after a feeble resistance."The correspondent says that four divisions of Japanese troops have occupied Kwantung heights, on which they employed heavy artillery dominating Port Arthur."The Russian squadron attempted a sortie, but was forced to return, being threatened by the Japanese fleet."

Rumors of Fighting.

The rumors of the battle around
Port Arthur came from many sources.
At the Russian headquarters at Liaoyang there were persistent rumors that another great battle is in progress near Port Arthur. Continuous cannonading has been heard from the south.At Chefoo steamers arriving from Newchwang reported that in passing Port Arthur Thursday night they heard heavy firing in the vicinity of the fortress. They saw only two Japanese cruisers, the inference being that the cannonading was on the land side.A rumor is circulating at Tokyo, principally in foreign circles, that Gen. Stoessel, the commander of the Port Arthur garrison, has promised to surrender the city on condition that the garrison be permitted to march out with their arms and go to Newchwang. Among those who are well informed this story is discredited.

To Attack Japanese Rear.

Despite the contradictory reports, it is generally believed that Gen. Kono-pathin has directed a part of his armyto move against the Japanese protecting Gen. Oku's rear, in the hope of relieving the strain on Port Arthur, although he himself, with his main force, is remaining at Liaoyang.Dispatches from Shanghai and Newchwang repeat the reports of the movement of 15,000 Russians to Kalping. The correspondents assert that five days' fighting took place at Wa-fanstein and that the Russians are employing 4,000 carts to remove munitions from Liaoyang to Kalyuen, seventy miles north of Mukden.It is emphatically denied from good sources at St. Petersburg that Gen.
Kourapatkin is taking such hazardous if not foolhardy steps as to himself move southward with Gen. Kuroki to enwrap his left flank, but many sources there concur in the belief that he probably has sent a force to do its utmost to help the Port Arthur garrison.

Gen. Oku is Safe.

The best critical opinion here is that the Japanese have a division not far from Port Adams holding a position where it can check any Russian southward advance. So protected, and holding Nanshan hill, the position of Gen. Oku is quite safe, as the fleet is able to keep him supplied. The Russians troops south of Kalping, accordingly, are regarded as being engaged in a hopeless effort and as being in danger of being severely handled if not cut off.A dispatch from Tokyo says that Field Marshal Yamagata has been appointed commander in chief of all the forces in the field. He is expected to proceed to the Liaoyang district shortly.AFTER PRIZES AT

In That City.(Special to The Gazette.) Madison, Wis., June 4.—The largest and most closely contested Wisconsin intercollegiate athletic meet in the history of this annual contest is on today at Camp Randall, the university athletic field. More than 230 athletes from the high school and other secondary schools of the state are trying for the honors. The three Milwaukee high school teams, as usual, are the favorites, but strong teams are present, representing Madison, Janesville, Ra-cities.W. C. WHITNEY'S DEATH DUE TO APPENDICITISRumor That Disease Was the Result of Bullet Wounds Inflicted by Angry Husband Is Denied.New York, June 4.—Quickly following the death of William C. Whitney, there were rumors from various sources, financial and social, that Mr.

Whitney's death was not caused by appendicitis, as made public by the attending physicians, but was due to a gunshot wound inflicted by an angry husband.Dr. William T. Bull, the attending physician, said: "Mr. Whitney died of appendicitis, as stated in the certificate of death filed with the health department by Dr. James. Mr. Whitney had a similar attack a year previous to his death."I examined the patient's body and performed the operation for appendicitis. I state positively that there were no wounds—bullet wounds or other wounds—upon the body, except those made necessary by the surgeon's knife in performing the operation for appendicitis, and also that there was no foreign substance in the body disclosed by that operation."All statements attributing the cause of Mr. Whitney's death to anything except appendicitis are without any foundation in fact."

A "SCREAMER"THAT WAS SENTIMENT OF MASS MEETING LAST NIGHT.

A BIG HOME TALENT CIRCUS

With a Parade Two Miles Long Is One of the Features Planned—Start to Raise Funds Monday.Sixty rockets and Roman candles, eloquence and martial music, pageants and waving flags! Jamesville is going to celebrate the Fourth of July. If you are in search of blissful solitude, if your nerves are disordered, if you wish to devote the day to peaceful meditation, you are doomed to disappointment. It is going to be a carnival day, "screamer" that will attract the populace for miles around.

A Unanimous Sentiment.

That was the unanimous sentiment voiced at the mass meeting of business men called at the city hall last evening. Secretary A. E. Bingham of the Business Men's Association called the meeting to order and Alderman Edward Connell was made chairman and W. W. Watt secretary. The speeches made by the first few men called upon by the chair were in a key that aroused the greatest enthusiasm.The one, single, undeviating opinion expressed on all sides was that Jamesville should have the biggest celebration in its history. An east side liquor dealer stated that the saloon men would donate $500 to the subscription fund. At least $1,200 is needed and the committee appointed will start out next Monday to raise the money. A generous response is confidently anticipated.

To Ransack the Jungles.

Arrangements will be made with the unapproachable Sioux tribe to permit to exhibit here on that date and the jungles of Rock county will be ransacked for new and strange specimens of wild beasts to augment the great menageries. A two mile street parade of chariots, brass bands, darling horsemen and gorgeous floats, word snake charmers, charlatans imported from Beloit, and strange automobiles never seen before on sea or shore, will be arranged for the forenoon. The day will begin at 5 a. m. and close at 12 p. m.

IS ESTABLISHED A HALF CENTURY

Wisconsin University Will Have Birthday Duly Celebrated by Loving Alumni From All Parts of the Globe.

(Special to The Gazette.)

Madison, Wis., June 4.—The jubilee of the University of Wisconsin is on.
Educators of distinction representing the leading universities and colleges of the world, together with hundreds of alumni who took their bachelore-ate degrees as far back as two-score and more years ago, are thronging to Madison. The guests are rapidly arriving, the arrangements, programs and decorations are complete and the jubilee spirit prevails in this classic old place. Fifty-four years ago the university was established, but it was four years later that the first commencement was held, just a half-century ago this coming week, and this latter fact is the occasion for the semi-centennial celebration that has been planned for an entire year, that has engaged the faculty more than anything else in that time and which formally opens with the Sabbath day tomorrow.The first exercises will be addressing by clerical alumni in the city churches tomorrow morning, followed by the baccalaureate address in the afternoon by ex-President John Bascom of Williamstown, Mass. Then follows nearly a week of classic observance and celebration, including the commemoration of the completion of the half-century, the formal inauguration of President Charles Richard Van Dine, the annual commencement exercises mixed along through the week and various spectacular features, which include a great naval fête on Lake Mendota and a stupendous illuminated procession by night time. The exercises conclude Thursday with the alumni banquet, the greatest dinner ever held in Madison, and the alumni reception and ball Thursday night.The university gymnasium, the container of the largest hall in the state outside of Milwaukee, will be the place of the large gatherings of the jubilee.
It is a massive, fortress-like building on the shore of Lake Mendota. Its interior has been decorated in fashion and elaboration to surpass even the brilliance of the costly, ultra-swagger junior promenade. The walls and ceiling have been covered and draped with cloth of green and varying shades and carloads of tropical palms and other plants have been brought fromChicago and Milwaukee for supplemental decoration. Great clusters of electric lights are placed and the scene is contemplated to be more brilliant than lay visitors will think possible for human ingenuity to attain.The streets of the Latin quarter have taken on a jubilee dress. On the campus electric illuminating appliances are lavishly placed, clusters of incandescent bulbs are being placed in the trees and the outlines of University Hall, the main building of the Wisconsin seat of learning, have been followed with strings of the lights. The illumination committee declares the university grounds will be a "blaze of glory" by night and a beautiful picture by day.While addresses of learned men and the eloquence of orators largely make up the program of the jubilee, the plan is to provide against any visitor being surfeited with talk, consequently music forms a goodly part of the program. The music is largely under the charge of Prof. Frederick A. Parker, the venerable head, though young in personal appearance, of the university school of music. He will be assisted by the Choral Union and a large town and gown chorus, the University Girls' Glee Club, the Men's Glee and Mandolin clubs and various other university musical organizations.
The Wisconsin State Band, Bach's Orchestra of Milwaukee and other instrumental organizations will also as-ist in the dispensation of harmony.One of the features of the jubilee week, perhaps the one which will leave the most lasting impression on the minds of the visitors, is the carriage drive.
On the afternoons of Tuesday and Wednesday practically every vehicle of the Badger capital city will be made available for the guests of the university and long cavalcades of pleasure drivers will be guided over the wonderful system of drives for which this place is famous the country over.
This system winds around the beautiful lakes among which Madison nestles. The drives have been twelve years in building and in the process some $121,000 have already been raised by popular subscription and have been expended in the work of macadamiz-ing and parking.HUSBAND IS ALLOWED

Right Granted to Sterner Sex by Old English Custom.

(Special to Scripps-Meltzer.)

Louisville, Ky., June 4.—Police Judge John J. Riley recognized the old English custom allowing a husband the privilege of whipping his wife, and as a result Squire Smith, who was before the court on the charge of wife-beating, was dismissed. Attorney Norgan read the law as formerly practiced in England and spoke at length of the privilege of the husband. The evidence in the case on trial showed that Smith had overheard a conversation between his wife, Mrs. Anna Smith, and another man, and accordingly he administered a whipping to her and admonished her not to talk to other men in the future.When Smith was arrested he announced his intention of basing his defense on a man's rights to beat his wife when she sufficiently offends. He is a well-known farmer and was never known before to strike his wife. "I recognize the right of any husband whose record is otherwise clear," said Judge Riley, in dismissing the case,
"to chastise his wife where her conduct is offensive. There is no other way by which he can censure her properly for certain acts discreditable to her and to him. I would not punish this man for acting as he did."

OLD FOGY GROWLS A LITTLE MORE

COMPLIMENTS THE COUNCIL ON SEWAGE QUESTION.

GOES FOR THE POLICE DEPT.

Winds Up with a Tale of a Fourth of July Celebration of Long Ago.

To the Editor: At last the council have awakened to the fact that Janesville is a city and not a country village. The action taken at the last meeting in ordering the purchase of a garbage wagon and enforcement of that excellent ordinance is a step in the right direction. This ordinance was not presented to the council for their consideration without due deliberation and a careful study of the existing conditions. Dr. Mills, the father of the law, studied every phase of the question and consulted eminent authorities before he framed his ordinance. It was passed and now it is to be enforced. It is a good thing and any city which has a similar law will tell the same story. Let the good work continue.

Dog License.
While I am on the subject of the council I should like to also express my approval of the dog license and the manner which it is to be made a permanent feature of the city life. The payment of the license fees may be a hardship to some people, to the general public it will be a boon and will rid the city of many a worthless cur who really has no home and who is a continued menace to children and teams which pass on the street. There is one dog in particular who makes his home in a Milwaukee street saloon that is exceptionally objectionable to the public at large. While his dog tax will doubtless be paid, still there will be some curs that will be missing and his fighting propensities will not be given as frequent opportunity to be exhibited as in the past.

Police Matter.
I would also like to say just one more word about the police question. Let us have the department reorganized and more officers placed on duty. Take it after ten o'clock. Is there any resident of the city who actually knows just where he could get a police officer in case of need? Is there any fixed place where a policeman will be at a fixed time if he is wanted? If there is for one would he like to know it. The other night I tried several places to see if it was possible to get a policeman if I was needed. No, they had either just been there or they had gone. If we can not afford to have a regular systemized police department let us at least know where we could reach an officer during the night if we should really need one. Is there not some way this could be arranged?

The Needs.
The fact we need more policemen that is generally known and some day in the near future I mean to show by figures that Janesville is the worst policed city of its size in the United States, as regards number of officers, not efficiency, except two. And still Janesville hopes to become a great manufacturing and industrial city without showing the merchants that they can protect their interests by proper police protection. Chief Hogan is a power in himself. His name spreads terror to the evil-doers, but he is not always going to be able to do this jobman's work and even now is absent from the city much. During his absence Officers Brown, Fanning and Bencke do the best work possible for such a small force to accomplish and while they keep peace and order where they are, there are places that they must neglect, no matter how hard they try. It is up to the council they tell me, let them act.

That Fourth of July.
There is a prospect that Janesville will this year give another Fourth of July celebration. I remember years ago a celebration I attended in Indiana. There was a big parade in the morning in which several crack companies of militia took part, old soldiers and citizens. It was led by a big brass band hired for the occasion from Indianapolis and several drum corps and local bands. The town was full of people and pop corn, fire crackers, peanuts, soft drinks, lemonade and candy stands filled the streets. Everyone had a good time and when after dinner the foot races, climbing the greased pole, chasing the greased pig and the reading of the Declaration of Independence had been cheered to an echo, two rival baseball nine players in red hot caps and uniforms I never saw before or since. Then came a concert by the big brass band and the little bands, and supper either from baskets under trees on the common or at long tables set up near where huge roast pigs and roast steers played a prominent part and fireworks later, ending up with a big dance. It was before the days of balloon ascensions and while I believe there was a side show on the edge of the town I do not think it did much of a business. Everyone had lots of fun and I have never forgotten the good time I had. I do not think it possible or advisable to have such a celebration in Janesville but let us have something to commemorate the day on continental fathers sat in that old state house in Philadelphia a hundred and twenty-nine years ago and made us a free and independent people.

UNFAIR.

Our Treatment of Honest Public Servants.

"The pay of all public men is much too small," said Senator Frye, of Maine, today in a brief discussion of the bill recently prepared by The Sentry and introduced by Senator Galling of New Hampshire, to increase the salaries of the president and vice-president, of the members of the cabinet and of congress.

"To that generalization," Senator Frye continued, "I should make one exception. The president's salary is large enough. He is paid fifty thousand dollars a year, his house is furnished, rent free and he has many perquisites that, in the end, materially increase his annual income. I should make no change in his salary.

"The salaries of members of the cabinet are far below what they should be. The pay is only $8,000 a year and on this salary they are expected to maintain an official position in the cost of which greatly exceeds that amount. They must live in good houses and good horses in the best localities. They can't be rented for less than five thousand dollars a year. Reckless of that house rent and carriage rent about equal the salary a member of the cabinet draws from the government.

"I have in mind a certain cabinet officer who gave up a law practice worth thirty thousand dollars a year to accept the portfolio of an important department at Washington. His family were hospitable people who entertained handsomely and they lived at the rate of forty thousand dollars a year. After two years of service this man resigned, giving as a reason that his private income would not permit so great an excess of expenditure over his official salary. All cabinet officers have many social and official duties that they cannot escape and a salary twice as large as they now receive would be only sufficient to maintain a position in keeping with their official prominence.

"I think that the salaries of representatives and senators should be increased also. I have been in public life many years and have never seen the time when I could afford to keep house and live within my income from the government. I have been able to keep within my income by living at hotels and boarding houses and this is what every public man, without a private fortune, must do. Unfortunately the most of my income is my salary from the government and I must accommodate my expenses to it.

"The truth is, the men who have the ability to serve their country and their constituents properly at Washington are underpaid. This is true of members of congress and of many men holding responsible places in the executive departments. I am often surprised to find in the departments men of distinguished ability, drawing salaries of fourteen and sixteen hundred dollars a year, whose services to a great corporation or business alone would be worth many times that amount.

"Members of congress have many expenses the public knows nothing about. This is particularly true of representatives and senators from the western states whose weekly mail includes many hundreds of letters and who employ additional secretaries to handle it. The government allows each member of congress a secretary but it is not unusual for congressmen to spend several thousand dollars each congress for extra service. When you remember, as I have previously explained, that the majority of these gentlemen have no private fortune and live at hotels and boarding houses to keep within their income you will understand that rigid economy is required to make both ends meet and without running in debt.

"The passage of a proper bill to increase the salaries of the public officials mentioned would be manifestly just. The trouble with the last bill increasing the salaries of representatives and senators was that it applied to the congress that passed it and this the country resented. Your bill, however, under which the salaries do not take effect until a later congress could not be fairly criticised."

It seems manifestly unfair for the people to use the strong executive ability and honest work of great men year after year in public work guarding the public interests and sadly underpay them and when worn out in such service push them out, poor and unable to earn a livelihood. Their salaries should be sufficient to enable them to put away a little for the time of need.

News for the Railroad Men.

Edwin Hawley has secured a dominant interest in the Des Moines & Fort Dodge railroad. New directors were elected as follows: W. L. Shaw, Edwin S. Hooley, Norbert H. Schaefer, Harry L. Felt, C. K. Johnson, A. W. Maxwell, Richard C. Lorch, Walter L. Crandall and A. C. Dona. The last three directors are personal representatives of Mr. Hawley. An official announcement made upon the expiration of the lease of the Des Moines & Fort Dodge railroad to the Rock Island, the road will be merged with some other system, presumably with the Minneapolis & St. Louis.

James A. Blair of the firm of Blair & Co., has resigned from the directorate of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad. President Davidson was elected a director in his place. The state is made that the cause for the resignation is that the firm of Blair & Co. was interested in financing new railroad transactions of the "Rock Island" and that it was therefore somewhat awkward for the head of the firm to be a director of the company.

The Milwaukee road has issued a new summer tourist rate circular, quoting fares on one fare plus fifty cents from June to September to all the important western tourist resorts.

The Northwestern has announced that the jurisdiction of C. H. Reynolds, superintendent, has been extended over that part of the system which was formerly operated as the South Platte district.

The earnings of the Wisconsin Central road for the fourth week of May were $161,000, a decrease of $29,169. The earnings from July 1, are $5,889,951.

The North-Western road has replaced the footbridge at Lafayette place, which was removed a few days to permit the working of the steam shovel.

Engineer Joseph Shaley and Fireman Harry Williams returned last evening from Lake Koshong where they spent the week fishing. They brought home with them about two hundred pounds of the finest fish seen in this city so far this season.

Engineer A. L. Wilcox is on the switch engine today.

PAID A VISIT TO ASSESSORS?

They Are at the City Hall Daily, and Anxious to See Property Holders Who Have Changes to Suggest.

Assessors Conrad and Davies will be in the city hall from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 2 to 5 every week day during the present month. All property holders should look up their valuations now and avoid the rush. On the 27th of June the board of review will meet and from then on to July 17th will have all the business it can attend to. It will be much more difficult to change valuations then than it is at the present time.

MRS. WITHAM IS TO LEAVE STATE

Fined $250 and Costs by the Court for Running Disorderly House, and Ordered Out of Wisconsin.

On her plea of guilty to the charge of running a disorderly house in Janesville, Mrs. Janette Rice Witham was fined $250 and costs by Judge Dunwiddie and ordered to leave the state of Wisconsin. The attention of the Grand Jury was directed to the character of the place at the corner of Main and Sharon streets, it being alleged that she was openly defying the law and even while that body was in session, and the indictment against her followed. The woman who is seventy years of age and has lived in this city for a long time, has already vacated the premises and will undoubtedly leave the state as directed.

THE "PHOENIX" IS FINE PRODUCTION

High School Juniors' Annual Publication Is a Credit to Editors and Class.

The 1904 "Phoenix," the annual publication of the high school juniors, has been issued and is a very creditable production. A handsome set of the high school building and also one of St. Paul, Ill., to whom the book is dedicated, ornaments the frontispiece. Sketches and drawings by Julia Lovejoy, Cora Putnam, Ada Buckmaster, and Joan Murphy testify to the high order of artistic talent of the designers and the edition is replete with group pictures of the various organizations including football team, the senior team, the girls' and boys' basketball teams, the track team, the orchestra, individual pictures of the board of education and the members of the graduating class also grace the pages. The curriculum of the school is given in a short history of each, and short accounts of the various athletic and declamatory contests as well as the "Chat," "Exchanges," and "Literary" departments which are all cleverly handled, are attractive features. The board of editors are: Editor in Chief, Ruth Field; Assistant Editor and Advertising Manager, Lucy W. Fox; Business Manager, George Caldwell; Exchange Editor, Ethel Field; Cat Editor, Grace Winterroth; Boys' Athletic Editor, Robena Keller; Laureate Editor, Clara M. Jones; Lyceum Editor, Harvey Bailey; Art Editor, Julia S. Lovejoy.

UNIVERSITY HAS SPECIAL COURSE

ITS OFFER FOR SUMMER STUDY EXPLAINED.

IT SHOULD INTEREST MANY

By Enabling Them to Study a Particular Branch in the Artisan School.

In the summer school for artisans the University of Wisconsin offers a large number of courses in drawing and shopwork. Some of these are planned to meet the special needs of the mechanic, while others are arranged specially for the manual training teacher.

Drawing and Machine Design.
In all the constructive trades, workman's instructions are given largely in the form of working drawings. Formerly, when but a few men were employed, the shop man could easily reach the draftsman and secure any information which had been omitted from the drawings furnished him, but today this is true only in small shops. In the large modern engineering plants with their complete shop and drafting room systems, the draftsman and the workman in the shop find it more difficult to consult without a considerable loss of time. It also often happens that drawings made in one locality must be used by workmen at some other place. To secure the maximum efficiency in the shop, the workman as well as the draftsman must understand how drawings are made.

Recognizing this fact, a few of the largest manufacturing firms have organized night classes in which a course in mechanical drawing is given, but while instruction secured in this way is often beneficial, the student's progress is necessarily slow. The drawing course offered in the summer school includes no fixed line of work, each student receiving instruction to meet his special needs. The aim is to teach fundamental principles and practical methods. Those who have had the elements of drafting may take up more advanced work, such as shop methods of assembling and filing drawings, tracing and blue-printing, laying out sheet metal work and patent office drawing.

The study of machine design naturally follows the general preparation in drawing and shop practice. In this work the drawing room problems are adapted to the needs and ability of the individual student. As the solution of these problems often involves the use of elementary formulae a series of lectures is given on the use of the slide rule, hand books, etc. The drawing work in machine design is also supplemented by class instruction on the methods and efficiencies of mechanical power transmission.

Shop Work.

In the machine shop and the related departments instruction is given in all of the fundamental processes involved in the production of machinery. It is not unusual to find workmen whose shop experience has been limited to the use of but one type of machine. This class of workmen have an opportunity in the summer school for artisans to secure practice on lathes, planers, milling machines, shapers, drilling machines, and other machines found in the best equipped shops. The work in the other shop departments includes bench and machine work in wood, pattern making, carpentry, bench work in iron, forge and foundry work, tool making, machine construction, and shop work designed to meet the needs of those interested in manual training. Advanced courses are open to those who have had the necessary preparation. Special attention is given to the hardening and tempering of steel for all classes of work.

Manual Training Work.

Manual training teachers will find in the well-equipped laboratories and drawing rooms an opportunity to improve in their work. They may take up in the drawing rooms any line of work for which they are prepared. The elementary work in drawing includes the selection and use of drawing instruments; geometrical constructions, orthographic projections, developments, working drawings, tracing and blue-printing. Recently, in some of the larger cities, work in mechanical drawing has been added to the duties of teachers who formerly taught only free-hand drawing. For these teachers, the instruction in the elementary course, outlined has been particularly effective. Isometric and cabinet projections, shades and shadows, and perspective drawing may be taken by the more advanced students. After a knowledge of the subject matter of these courses, the work may be studied from the standpoint method. A comparative study is made of the various methods of teaching elementary and secondary schools of recognized standing, with the view of arriving at conclusions as to what should be included in the course of mechanical drawing and what methods should be employed in teaching. Special attention is given to the correlation of drawing with other subjects in manual training courses.

Manual training instruction is also given in all of the shop departments. The regular schedule of exercises in each department is maintained for all students who have not had similar work. For those who choose to pursue further any special line of shop work, the course will be extended to meet their requirements.

The work in the other departments of the school for artisans includes courses in steam, gas and other heat engines; applied electricity; the materials of construction; fuels and lubricants. A circular containing detailed information concerning all of the above courses will be sent upon application.

The success of this school has shown that when fully equipped laboratories are available and the work is directed by competent instructors, much can be done to benefit those instructed in the various trades.

Martin J. Barron, of Beloit, transacted business in the city yesterday. John Aldrich was a Rockford visitor Thursday.

TOBACCO PLANTS GROWING RAPIDLY

A Few Transactions in Old Leaf Have Come to a Head This Week.

Some tobacco growers are experiencing the same trouble with their tobacco seed this season, says the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter, as they are with seed corn, in that a portion of the seed refuses to germinate. As a result beds sown with seed raised last year very many of them have but a thin show of plants, while those sown with older seed are vastly better. Farmers are just beginning to learn that the cold, unseasonable weather last year was unfavorable to the development of all seed plants. It is believed that fully one-half of the seed corn sowed in this locality refuses to grow when planted in the fields, requiring a large amount of re-planting. These facts demonstrate how necessary it is that tobacco growers especially provide themselves with seed of known fertility. It is too late after a failure to secure a good stand of plants to re-sow beds and get plants ready by the usual transplanting season. The only safety lies in a thorough testing of the seed early in the spring and determine to a certainty that seed intended to be used will germinate. Where there has been no germination with poor seed, plants are generally lacking well and it is consequently believed they will be forward enough to be ready for transplanting as soon as the fields can be prepared to receive them.

Janesville.
Although there were but a few sales made here during the week, one of them is the equal of an ordinary week's business; 1400 boxes is the time of the transaction and was closed by S. B. Heddles. It consists of '01 and '02 leaf and goes to a Philadelphia firm. A sale of this kind seems to be a very rare occurrence in this section nowadays and whoever accomplishes such a deal is looked upon as a most lucky fellow.

In general the market has been very quiet here during the past few days and the only other deal that is worth the mention was that made by R. L. Eiler of Mies and Co. and reported to have been bought by a Cincinnati house.

There are a few still buying the new leaf and among those are E. M. Calkins, who is now in San Prairie making preparations to ship several cars to this city on the coming Saturday, and Samuel Grundy will ship a four-car load lot from that place on the same date. The other buyers that are still in the field are Geo. H. Rumlill, Norm Carle and A. Jones. The majority of the warehouses that are still sorting expect to continue operations in that part of the industry for another four weeks.

Edward Simonson, of Stoughton, was a visitor to this market on Tuesday.

The plant question seems to be anything but contracting, and unless the weather makes some sudden changes and warms up the planting will be retarded to a great extent and will undoubtedly not take place until the latter part of June.

Edgerton.
Considerable inquiry is still maintained for old leaf and several medium sized sales are reported by local packers. Messrs. Shafer and Blumberg have picked up about 2000s during the week in this market. The Hamburger packer and have much larger deal about closed with a Janesville firm.

More favorable weather conditions have improved the prospects of the plant beds which now seem able to have plants of proper size at the usual transplanting season.

The shipments out of storage reach 9 carloads, 455 cases, and 1 car of bundle goods, from this station to all points for the week past.

Drying tobacco from country hands is still going on in a moderate way in many of the growing districts but the aim of late is mainly directed to securing assorted lots for which better prices are willingly paid when satisfactory goods are found. The greater share of the bundle goods has doubtless been marketed, and where growers have their tobacco eased they are in position to demand better figures or carry them over the summer. Buyers in the field claim about 25 per cent. of the crop remains unsold.

George Wise of this city, and son Morgan, of Rockford, spent several days at their cottage at Lake Kegonsa.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; if the water is clear, you are all right; if it is cloudy, you have kidney trouble.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It cures the inability to hold water and sending pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

MISS GRACE WRIGHT PUT ON PLAY AT EAU CLAIRE

Janesville Young Lady Has Charge of Operetta by High School Students.

Miss Grace Wright who has been a member of the faculty of the Eau Claire high school during the past year successfully trained the choral society of that institution for an operetta "Tosca" which was presented recently. "Too much credit cannot be awarded this admirable lady for her splendid work." Is the comment of one of the Eau Claire newspapers. Miss Wright has returned to Janesville to spend the summer vacation here.

Meet This Evening: The Alumni association of the University will meet at the Myers house to perfect their organization. This association has raised eighty-five dollars for the jubilee celebration this next week and numbers thirty-five persons.

MUNYON'S PAW PAW

Dr. Thos. C. Carter, an Eminent Washington Physician, Gives Munyon's Paw Paw a Strong Professional Endorsement.

I have used and am now using Munyon's Paw Paw, and find it most effective in cases of nervousness, indigestion and stomach trouble.

Professor Munyon is to be congratulated in utilizing the fruit of the Paw Paw tree, the digestive qualities of which, I believe, is second to none known production in the fruit or vegetable kingdom.

THOS. C. CARTER, M. D., 332 G St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

I want every tired woman after a hard day's work or an afternoon's shopping, to take a tablespoonful of Paw Paw and see how quickly it will refresh and invigorate her.

I urge upon brain workers particularly the use of Paw Paw. It will immediately give tone and energy to the whole nervous system.

If the toiler who feels the need of a stimulant will stop into the nearest drug store and ask for Paw Paw he will have no further use for whiskey, beer or other stimulants.

Sold by all druggists. Large bottle $1.00, Paw Paw Laxative Pills, 25c a bottle.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

"A little scandal trickled through
Where gossip cracked the wall,
And rapidly the volume grew
That was at first so small.
They sought with truth to fill the rent,
To close the ugly breach, but spent
Their efforts all in vain, for like
The steam that steals out through The dike

Foul scandal's volume swells and spreads;

Beginning as a subtle slur
It quickly wrecks and rips to shreds
The splendid walk of character."

The Chicago Record-Herald recently published this little scrap of sentiment. It contains so much of truth, of a character that is frequently overlooked, that it is worth considering.

In speaking of the various organs of the body, an inspired writer said, a long time ago: "The tongue is an unruly member." (Robert Hall, in a recent number of the "Philistine," devoted a chapter to "Chicago tongue.")

The lapse of centuries, which intervened between the first and second criticism, contributed nothing to the virtue of the "unruly member," for the fact is generally recognized that the wagging of the tongue improves with experience.

If there is any one form of intemperance that curses humanity today, more generally than all others, it is the intemperate use of the tongue.
A species of iniquity so common, and yet so popular, that it receives but little attention from either pulpit or press.

Energy is expended in fruitless efforts to abolish the saloon; political parties are organized to regulate the drink habit; statistics are published to prove the extravagant waste of money in the rum traffic, and glowing pictures, taken from the bitter experiences of life, tell of the misery and suffering caused by intemperance.

Similar warfare is made on tobacco and drunkenness. These three evils, in the minds of many good people, constitute the moral code, and the little sins of every day experience, common to almost every home, escape attention.

At a national conference of clergymen, recently held in a western state, the question of amusements was of absorbing interest. Much time and thought was devoted to discussion, and it was apparent, from the interest manifest, that no other question was considered of more vital moment.
But an exhibition of "tongue" was made on the floor of the conference, which put to blush the theater and ball-room, when a candidate for high office was attacked by a brother clergyman.

It is true that apologies and vindication followed, but it is also true that the "unruly member" is just as unruly today as in the days when the first criticism was offered.

Much is written about the size and capacity of the brain, the endowment of mind, and graces of the heart, while but little is said about the activity of the tongue.

But little gray matter is required to put the tongue in motion, and a mind of limited capacity can keep it moving with great regularity, and when it is running at full speed the influence of the heart is seldom recognized.

Some one has said that character is what we are, while reputation is what is said about us, and some people are foolish enough to believe that the possession of character is the one and only great essential.

It is true that a pure white character is the one thing that puts a man at peace with himself, but it doesn't always save him from crucifixion.

Next to character there is nothing in life more valuable than reputation.

To ignore this fact by the common expression: "I don't care what people say or think," is always evidence of shallowness, and superficial knowledge.

The attack on reputation never comes from the brain, and the mind and heart are not consulted. It comes from the tongue, in idle gossip, and like a poisoned arrow finds lodgment and is taken up and expanded by other tongues until its mission is accomplished.

They say that Smith is neglecting his duty and that he spends so much time at the bar and gaming table, that he is losing his credit and reputation as a business man. It is reported that he goes home drunk occasionaly and abuses his family, and the neighbors are saying that his wife is about to apply for a divorce.

Smith may be having a hard time in his business. Competition is sharp, trade dull, and margins close, and he needs every dollar available, and a helping hand to tide him over, but he is as honest as the sun, his habits are clean and his home as pleasant as he can make it under the strain of depression.

His wife is worried and anxious because she is a true helpmate. She isn't saying much to the neighbors, and she doesn't spend much time at the club, or in society, because she is loyal to her home and to the man who is exerting every energy to win in the struggle against odds.

Add to such burdens the load of slander and suspicion which an idle tongue creates, and the tragedy is complete. Reputation was all that stood between the home and wreckage, and when that is destroyed ruin is accomplished.

The breath of a man who smokes all the time and drinks occasionally is more wholesome than the breath of slander, under whatever guise it may masquerade.

That young lady who has just returned from school will bear watching.
She has been mixed up in a number of escapades, which were not creditable, and they say that she smokes cigarettes, drinks with the boys and is branded with an unsavory reputation.

The girl may be as pure in character and purpose as the white flowers of spring, but the blight of suspicion has fallen upon her, and she gropes in the mist of uncertainty, shadowed by a nameless dread, that she can neither fathom nor explain.

An idle tongue, which wags like the tail of a dog, and with as little effort, is responsible.

The decalogue known as the ten commandments is recognized as the code of moral law. It is also the basis of legal authority.

"Thou shalt not," is a command which emanated on Sinai. It rings down through the centuries with a clearness of tone that improves with age. The man who commits theft or murder is an outlaw today, and the public sentiment that condemns him is world wide.

"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor," is one of the commandments of this ancient code, and it has to do with the tongue of slander. While it may not be regarded as a crime to violate this law, it should be so regarded in the light of results.

When the brotherhood of man is more fully recognized and human rights more clearly appreciated, there will be more charity and less calumny, and the value of reputation will be recognized as a priceless gem.

This Russian-Japanese war seems to be a case of two Ks fighting each other, as near as the general public can come to pronouncing the names of the opposing generals.

Maximilian ruined Mexico and died at the hands of the rifles of his enemies. How about the Maximilian in Wisconsin at the hands of the voters?

So President Roosevelt will keep his hands off Wisconsin's dirty clothes.
This La Follette version of their huge bluff game.

Janesville boys get to the top of the ladder some way these days and we find them in all sorts of responsible positions.

According to La Follette, the Washington republicans have decided to let dog eat dog and not to worry the lion in Wisconsin.

When the truth is really known about that Madison convention there will be a lot of surprised politicians.

That Illinois fight was a long one but it did not leave the party split as has the short one at the armory.

Those Indiana people had a great time at the St. Louis fair as well as the "show me" crowd.

June 15th, in Chicago, will be a day to be remembered by Wisconsin politicians.

So Demers got it after all. Well!
Well! Well!

Spooner, Quarles and Cook.

PRESS COMMENT

Racine Times: "The Irish potato is going to be king in Wisconsin this year," says the Eau Claire Leader.
That is rather indefinite. Which is the Irish potato, La Follette or Spooner?

Madison Journal: The Marinette Eagle-Star declines to believe that it will support as republican the ticket so declared by the supreme court of the state. Perhaps the court won't play.

Marinette Eagle-Star: Steamship agents report prospects of unusually heavy passenger lists across the pond this summer. May be caused by gentlemen with barrels endeavoring to escape the vice presidency.

La Crosse Chronicle: People of St.
Clair, Mich., celebrated Memorial day by plastering strike breakers with rotten eggs. Who says American lack patriotism?

Evansville Review: Monograms on garters are going out of style, and it's just as well. The country is being flooded with too much light literature anyhow.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune:
Gentlemen from Kentucky proposing to visit St. Louis, are cautioned to carry their own masks. Water continues to be quoted at five cents per gallon.

Indianapolis Journal: It is a trifle suggestive to learn that the countries to which we export our cheap cotton seed oil are the ones from which we import high-priced olive oil.

New York Mail: A Bennington (Vt.) man cuts, saws and splits three cords of wood a day and shaves and gets a haircut once a year. And yet there are critics who say that the old New England thrift and foresight have gone forever.

Philadelphia Inquirer: Professor Starr informs the American mother that her baby will be healthier, happier and ultimately better looking if she will keep it strapped to a board, Indian fashion. Perhaps, too the fat janitor would relax his objections to it in that case. If so, the proposition is worth considering.

Superior Telegram: There are 100 cases of barbers' itch in Madison.
 Well, there is one advantage—no man with the itch can complain that he has nothing to do.

Racine Journal: One June 9th our state university confers the degree of
 L. L. D. upon Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago, as a mark of its appreciation of the work done by her for humanity.

New York World: George F. Bier, who in 1902 obtained that he hold from the Lord his commission as president of the Reading railroad, and who now says "our families" to divine intervention, says that coal prices must stay up until Reading stock pays 1 per cent. Is this also a command from heaven, that watered stock must be made valuable at the people's cost?

Indianapolis News: A Starke county physician tells this story on himself.
 After writing a prescription for a patient, the physician told him that the druggist would probably charge him 60 cents for filling it. Then the patient asked the physician to lend him the 60 cents. Thereupon the physician carefully scratched out a part of the prescription and handed it back with 10 cents, remarking: "You can get that filled for a dime. What I scratched out was for your nerves, but you need nothing for them."

St. Louis Republic: Among the many articles lost and finally found in the Odeon during the convention of the General Federation of Woman's clubs were three diamond ring settings, eight chain purses, several coats, seven fans, thirty-three handkerchiefs, six veils, two pairs of gold-rimmed eyeglasses and twelve cinnamon powder bags. Evidently "there was something doing."

Chicago Chronicle: Punctuation is as truly an element of individual style as is the choice of words, and if a writer be restricted and fettered in either it destroys individuality. It is toward this kind of crippling that purely technical criticism tends. It would have put Byron and Carlyle in a strait-jacket that would have robbed English literature of some of its most commanding poetry and most trenchant prose, both largely destitute of mere formal polish.

Think of it.
That a disgruntled paper will print the following opinion from the pencill or typewriter of such a narrow-minded, bigoted person as the author of this creed existed was a question of doubt. However, there is one paper who professes to be an organ of the people and allows its columns to be filled with the following rot. Evidently the author came to the county convention of the republicans with a proxy from the third ward of Evansville in his pocket and was not allowed to vote or perhaps he tried to do some dirty trick on a Janesville man and got left. Anyway, he takes out his vengeance in the following blind article to which he is ashamed to sign his name.

"We say that Rock county has a board of Turks, Cossacks and husk-winchers that are not equaled anywhere else in this or any other state.
If you do not believe this, take a journey to this beautiful Rock county and the city of Janesville, and put yourself in the way of these self-seeking board of pathfinders and you will find out where your reputation and money has gone if you went there with either or both. If there is a gang of platoes in this state who should be trimmed up, and trimmed up right, they live in and about the city of Janesville."

THIS OUGHT TO INTEREST MANY

GAZETTE OFFERS FREE TRIP TO THE FAIR.

CONTEST OPENS THIS EVENING

Read the Conditions Carefully, and Then Choose Your Candidate for the Honor Offered.

In 1893 the Gazette held a voting contest by which the most popular working man in the city and his wife were given a week's trip to the World's Fair at Chicago all expenses paid, including his weeks wages while absent from his work.

As a result of the contest which was very spirited, Frank Dewey, of the Janesville Machine company and his wife enjoyed an outing at the Chicago World's Fair entirely free of cost.

The Gazette has decided to again make it possible for some working man and his wife to visit the World's Fair at paper's expense.

A voting contest is inaugurated today and will be carried on until August 31st, to determine who is the most popular workingman in the city of Janesville. The one who receives the largest number of votes will be sent to St. Louis accompanied by his wife to spend seven days at the World's Fair—the Gazette footing all bills.

Railroad fare to and from St. Louis for the lucky pair will be paid and board and lodging at a first class hotel near the fair grounds, six admission tickets for the gentleman and lady, street car fare, theatre tickets—all will be included in this offer, and to make it even more enjoyable the workingman will be paid his regular week's wages, just as if he had put in full time at the factory on whatever place his attention may call him.

There will be no loss of time and the holiday will be worth struggling for.

The Gazette will do every thing to make the week pleasant and profitable.

Here is an opportunity for some worthy man and his wife too, to demonstrate their popularity and to secure a week's trip to the greatest World's Fair ever attempted, absolutely without cost to themselves.

This offer is even greater than was the Chicago contest of 1893.

The St. Louis Fair covers about twice the ground of the Chicago fair and is by far more magnificent in every way.

The women can do their full share toward securing the trip for themselves and their better halves. A half hour a day spent in looking up people who are not Gazette subscribers or in prevailing upon those who are subscribers to pay in advance for the paper, can help their husbands to win the prize.

A lot of hustle on the part of both will be very liable to land you both in the car headed for St. Louis.

As you will notice the premium in votes for new subscribers is large and then to the friend who takes a paper to help a friend, will cut out the ballots in his Gazette and save them for him.

A coupon will appear in every issue of the Daily Gazette from now until August 31st. The contest will be conducted strictly "on the square." No partiality or unfair advantage will be taken or allowed in any case.

Cut out the coupon each day, enter the name of your favorite and forward to the Gazette office.

Conditions of the Contest.

The popularity of the candidate is to be determined by the number of votes cast for him.

New subscriptions will secure premiums when paid in advance as follows:

One month paid in advance 100 votes.

Three months paid in advance 400 votes.

Six months paid in advance 1000 votes.

One year paid in advance 2500 votes.

Old subscribers who are square on our books and who pay in advance will receive the same number of votes for their money as new subscribers—that is on advance payments made during June, 4 votes for every cent paid on advance subscriptions, during July 2 votes every cent paid on advance subscriptions, during August 2 votes for every cent paid on advance subscriptions.

We will be square with you and you on our books and square with us. No person will be allowed to stop his paper and send to another name at the same address, neither will they be allowed to stop one day and start the next to claim premiums offered. New subscriptions are those who are not on our books June 4th. The subscription price to the Daily Gazette by carrier is 50 cents per month, $1.25 three months in advance, $2.50 six months in advance, $5.00 one year in advance. By mail in the county, four months $1 in advance, six months $1.50 in advance, one year $3 in advance. By mail outside of county one year $1 in advance.

Now get your shears and put on your hustling clothes, you can win.

CLOSING OUT.

Having decided to close out a complete line of first class ready mixed paint, we purpose to give the public a chance to repaint interiors, chairs, cupboards, etc., at an exceptionally small cost. This paint is ready to use in cans of one quart, one pint, and one-half pint, at 15 c, 11c, 25c, 21c, 40c, 31c, 31c—certainly a bargain. A good line of colors to select from in you buy at once. Heath & Millard's paint, Jap-A-Lac, lead and oil, get our prices.

WALTON PYRE CO. IN "ESMERALDA"

Brilliant Closing Performance Given at Myers Theatre Last Evening—Company in Madison Tonight.

The severe storm last evening interrupted seriously with what would otherwise have been a large attendance at the closing performance of the Walton Pyre Stock Co. Those who braved the inclement weather were well rewarded.

In "Esmeralda" the several members of the company who were rather overshadowed by the principals in "Prince Karl" were given an opportunity to display their abilities. Mabel Carruthers played the part of the chronic scold in a most realistic and convincing manner and J. L. Hazelton's presentations of the lovable character of the humble, long suffering husband, was more than excellent.

The suave and graceful "Estabrook" as played by William Russell and the part of "Nora Desmond" taken by Caroline Pyre were admirably portrayed.

The comedy drama opens in the rural districts of North Carolina and comes to its brilliant close in Paris. Walton Pyre plays the part of the farmer boy lover and Miss LaFollette that of "Esmeralda," the one maid in all the world, whom a cruel mother, made ambitious by sudden fortune, seeks to marry to a dissolute aristocrat. Her impassioned acting in the third act where she hurls her jewels to the floor and defies the scheming mother is superb and provoked a storm of applause last evening.

Walton Pyre's part rang sincere and true, and he proved himself as much at home in overalls as in the tuxedo of a prince, though the role was a less important one than the one assumed on the evening previous.

The production was admirably staged and consumed. It is needless to say that no stock company of the high order of this one has visited Janesville this season.

OBITUARY

Miss Madeline Koebelin.

At a late hour yesterday afternoon death summoned Miss Madeline Koebelin, one the city's most respected and estimable young ladies, at her home on South Main street. Several weeks ago she was obliged to give up her work as saleslady with the firm of Hart, Bailey & Co., on account of failing health, but even her most intimate friends thought that she would soon be here in a short time.

The announcement of her death will bring sorrow to her many friends, her death will be keenly felt in the family circle where she was the comfort of her aged mother. She leaves to mourn her loss a mother, two sisters, and two brothers, John and Fred Koebelin of this city.

The funeral of the late Madeline Koebelin will be held Sunday afternoon from her home 230 South Main street at four o'clock. Rev. S. G. Huey of the Rock Prairie Presbyterian church will officiate.

Ruth Culver Sanner.

Owing to the express wish of Mrs. Sanner she will be buried at Riverside, California. The exact date of the interment has not yet been fixed.

Michael Kelly died this morning at three thirty at his home in Footville after a week's illness of pneumonia. Mr. Kelly was an employee of the Chicago and North-Western road and leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss. Notice of the funeral later.

NORCROSS GAINS GENERAL SUPPORT

MADISON G. A. R. WILL ENDORSE HIS CANDIDACY.

WOULD BE DEPARTMENT HEAD

He is Backed by the Local Post of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Captain Pliny Norcross is considered by Grand Army veterans in Madison as the strongest candidate for the election as department commander of Wisconsin. He is said to be gaining strength daily as fast as it becomes known that he is available for the honor. Captain Norcross was late in allowing his friends to use his name as a candidate, but since he has returned to a month's visit with Mrs. Fleck's mother, at Maquoketa, Ia.

Mrs. O. E. Fleck and children have returned from a month's visit with Mrs. Fleck's mother, at Maquoketa, Ia.

Mrs. Fred J. Tucker and children returned to Chicago yesterday noon after spending a few days, the guests of Mrs. Tucker's mother, Mrs. W. T. Vankirk.

Mrs. M. T. Lane of Evanston, daughter of Col. and Mrs. W. B. Britton arrived today and will make her parents a visit.

Mrs. Richard H. Barlow was hostess at a delightful luncheon given for a number of lady friends at her home on Jefferson street this noon.

Mrs. Fred Howe and H. D. Murdoch left this morning for Chicago. They will spend Sunday in the Windy city and leave in the evening for St. Louis where they will remain two weeks at the fair.

W. Morrow, of Alexandria, So. Dakota, is in the city the guest of Mrs. Thos. King. Mr. Morrow was a resident of Janesville 25 years ago and has been back here only twice since leaving years ago. Mr. Morrow says that the city has changed to such an extent he would hardly know it, although he finds many old landmarks which are familiar.

A party of Janesville young ladies constituted the first of the pilgrims to leave for Madison for the public celebration. # Filigree Ball

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN,

Author of "The Mystery of Agatha Webb," "Lost Man's Lane," Etc.

Copyright, 1903, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"It hangs just where the settle stood," observed Durbin significantly. "And just at the point where the cushions invite rest, as the colonel so suggestively puts it in his strange puzzle of a confession," added the district attorney.

"Replace the old seat," ordered the major, "and let us make sure of this." "Ready hands at once grasped it and, with some effort, I own, drew it carefully back into position.

"You see?" quoth Durbin. "We did." "Devilish!" came from the major's lips. Then with a glance at the ball, which, pushed aside by the seat, now hung over its edge a foot or so from the floor, he added briskly: "The ball has fallen to the full length of the cord. If it were drawn up a little—"

"Wait," I eagerly interposed. "Let me see what I can do with it."

And I dashed back upstairs and into the closet of "The Colonel's Own." With a single peep down to see if they were still on the watch, I seized the handle, whose position I had made sure of when searching for the spring, and began to turn, when instantly, so quick was the response, the long cord stiffened, and I saw the ball rise into sight above the settle top.

"Stop!" called out the major. "Let go and press the spring again."

I hastened to obey, and, though the back of the settle hid the result from me, I judged from the look and attitude of those below that the old colonel's calculations had been made with great exactness and that the one comfortable seat on the rude and cumbersome bench had been so placed that this sudden weight in descending would at the chosen moment strike the head of him who sat there, inflicting death. That the weight should be made just heavy enough to produce a fatal concussion without damaging the skull was proof of the extreme care with which this subtle apparatus had been contrived. An open wound would have aroused questions, but a mere bruise might readily pass as a result of the victim's violent contact with the furnishings of the hearth toward which the shocked body would naturally topple. The fact that a modern jury had so regarded it shows how justified he was in this expectation.

I was expending my wonder on this and on a new discovery which, with a very decided shock to myself, I had just made in the closet when the command came to turn the handle again and to keep on turning it till it would turn no farther.

I complied, but with a trembling hand, and, though I did not watch the result, the satisfaction I heard expressed below was significant of the weight rose foot by foot to the ceiling and finally slunk singly and without seeming jar into its lair.

When a few minutes later I rejoined those below I found them all, with eyes directed toward the cornice, searching for the hole through which I had just been looking. It was next to imperceptible, so naturally had it been made to fit in with the shadows of the scrollwork, and even after I had discovered it and pointed it out to them I found difficulty in making them believe that they really looked upon an opening. But, when once convinced of this, the district attorney's remark was significant.

"I am glad that my name is not Moore."

The superintendent made no reply. His eye had caught mine, and he had become very thoughtful.

"One of the two candle-labra belonging to the parlor mantel was found lying on that closet floor," he observed. "Somebody has entered there lately, as lately as the day when Mr. Pfeiffer was sent here."

"Parlor here," I impetuously cried. "Mr. Pfeiffer's death is quite explained. And, drawing forward my hand, which up to this moment I had held tight shut behind my back, I slowly unclenched it before their astonished eyes.

A bit of lace lay in my palm, a delicate bit, such as is only worn by women in full dress.

"Where did you find that?" asked the

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you are a woman or a man with luxuriant lustrous hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Hairdressing Lotion that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Hairdressing Lotion. major, with the first show of deep emotion I have ever observed in him. My agitation was greater than his as I replied:

"In the rough boarding under those drawers. Some woman's arm and hand has preceded mine in stealthy search after that fatal spring. A woman who wore lace, valuable lace."

There was but one woman connected with this affair who rightly answered these conditions. The bride, Veronica Moore!

CHAPTER XXIII.

VERONICA MOORE'S real connection with Mr. Pfeiffer's death—a death which in some inscrutable way had in so short a time led to her own—was an overwhelming surprise to every one of us.

The superintendent, as was natural, recovered first.

"This throws quite a new light upon the matter," said he. "Now we can understand why Mr. Jeffrey uttered that extraordinary avowal overheard on the bridge: 'She must die!' She had come to him with blood on her hands."

Addressing the major, the district attorney asked when he expected to hear from Denver, adding that it had now become of the first importance to ascertain the exact relations existing between the persons under suspicion and the latest victim of this deadly mechanism.

He had hardly ceased speaking when an officer appeared with a telegram in his hand. This the major eagerly took, and, noting that it was in cipher, read it by means of the code he carried in his pocket. Translated, it ran thus:

"Result of open inquiry in Denver: 'Three brothers Pfeiffer, all well thought of, but plain in their ways and eccentric. One doing business in Denver, died June, '97. One perished in Klondike, October, same year; and one, by name Wallace, died suddenly three months since in Washington.'"

"Nothing further gained by secret inquiry in this place."

"Result of open inquiry in Owosso: 'A man named Pfeiffer kept a store in Owosso during the time V. M. attended school there. He was one of three brothers, home Denver, name Wallace. Simultaneously with V. M.'s leaving school P. broke up business and at instigation of his brother William, who accompanied him, went to the Klondike. No special relation between lady and this same P. ever noted. V. M. once heard to laugh at his awkward ways.'"

"Result of secret inquiry in Owosso: 'V. M. very intimate with schoolmate who has since died. Often rode together; once gone a long time. This was just before V. M. left school for good. Date same as that on which a marriage occurred in a town twenty miles distant. Bride, Antoinette Moore; groom, W. Pfeiffer of Denver, witness, young girl with red hair. Schoolmate had red hair. Had V. M. a middle initial, and was that initial A.'"

We all looked at each other. This last question was one none of us could answer.

"Go for Mr. Jeffrey at once," ordered the major, "and let another one of you bring Miss Tuttle. No word to either of what has occurred and no hint of their possible meeting here."

It felt to me to fetch Miss Tuttle. I was glad of this, as it gave me a few minutes by myself in which to compose my mind and adjust my thoughts to the new conditions opened up by the amazing facts which had just come to light. But beyond the fact that Mrs. Jeffrey had been answerable for the death which had occurred in the library at the time of her marriage—that, in the words of the district attorney, she had come to her husband with blood on her hands—my thoughts would not go. Confusion followed the least attempt to settle the vital question of how far Miss Tuttle and Mr. Jeffrey had been involved in the earlier crime and what the coming interview with these two would add to our present knowledge. In my anxiety to have this question answered I hastened, my steps and was soon at the door of Miss Tuttle's present dwelling place.

I doubt if she noticed my agitation. She was too much swayed by her own. Advancing upon me in all the unconscious pride of her great beauty, she tremulously remarked:

"You have a message for me. Is it from headquarters, or has the district attorney still more questions to ask?" "I have a much more trying errand than that," I hastened to say, with some idea of preparing her for an experience that could not fail to be one of exceptional trial. "For reasons which will be explained to you by those in greater authority than myself you are wanted at the house where—"

"I could not help stammering under the light of her melancholy eyes—"

"where I saw you once before," I lamely concluded.

"The house in Waverley avenue?" she objected wildly, with the first signs of positive terror I had ever beheld in her.

I nodded, dropping my eyes. What could I do to penetrate the conscience of this woman?

"Are they there—all there?" she presently asked again. "The police and—Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey?"

"Madam," I respectfully protested, "my duty is limited to conducting you to the place named. A carriage is waiting. May I beg that you will prepare yourself to go at once to Waverley avenue?"

For answer she subjected me to a long and earnest look which I found it impossible to evade. Then she hastened from the room, but with very unsteady steps.

When she returned ready for her ride this change in her spirits was less observable, and by the time we had reached the house in Waverley avenue she had as far regained her old courage as to move and speak, with the calmness of despair if not of mental recreation.

The major was awaiting us at the door and bowed gravely before her heavily veiled figure.

Your Pulse.

Feel It Once a Week To See In What Condition Your Heart Is.

If your pulse beats too fast, or too slow; too strong or too weak; or too irregular; 'tis a sign of a weak heart. Refresh it with Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

The healthy pulse of a grown person should average 72 to 80 beats a minute. The beats should be regular pulsations—not too weak to be easily felt, not so strong as to be felt without some pressure of the skin.

You may not feel particularly sick, but any day, if your heart is weak, you are liable to some sudden seizure, breast-pain, fainting, weak or smothering spell, a sign of real danger.

Do not wait for such a moment to come, but treat your weak heart now, such as fast walking, riding, excitement, a flight of steps, excitement or emotion. I have used only a few bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and am entirely free from all of these symptoms, and believe myself completely cured.

It is a wonderful heart and blood tonic and will make the blood rich and the heart strong. It will do you good by strengthening and building up the nervous system and circulation.

For years I was troubled with pains around my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation and fluttering of the heart, occasioned by the slightest exertion, such as fast walking, riding, excitement, a flight of steps, excitement or emotion. I have used only a few bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and am entirely free from all of these symptoms, and believe myself completely cured.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Disobedient Duckling

"Children, do not run far away," said Mamma Duck to her four little ducklings one day as she sat down in a place for a nap.

But she had no sooner closed her eyes when Dick Duckling said to his three brothers:

"Let us take a stroll in the meadow."

"No," they replied; "mamma told us we would get into trouble if we wandered away."

"Oh, she's too careful," declared Dick. "Come on; let's have some fun. There's no harm."

And so he finally persuaded them to go with him, and they wandered through the grass a long way from where their mother was asleep.

They were having a real good time, too, when suddenly a large, hungry fox sprang from the bushes. He grabbed poor Dick by the throat and ran off as hard as he could to his home, where he made a good meal off the disobedient duckling.

Can you guess what the moral of this little story is?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

HE GRABBED POOR DICK.

Vudor Porch Shades

A JANESVILLE PRODUCTION:

We are agents for them and show all styles.

Points of Superiority

- 1st. An effective screen.
- 2d. Allow free circulation of air.
- 3d. Ease of operation. Roll up like a theatre curtain. The action is positive and easy.
- 4th. Made in such a variety of colors, it is easy to select those in artistic harmony with the style of the house.
- 5th. Great durability--made from Linden wood fibre, securely woven with the best of seine twine; fitted with metal pulleys, and a heavy maitre cord for raising.
- 6th. The colors are weather-proof.
- 7th. Screen a porch from the outside, without interfering with the view of those within.
- 8th. Lowness of price, considering the utility and durability.

World's Fair Voting Contest

Gazette Will Repeat Its Popular Contest of 1893 and Send the Most Popular Workingman and His Wife to St. Louis.

THE GAZETTE has been planning the past two months a voting contest by which the most popular workingman and his wife in the city may spend a week at the World's Fair, St. Louis, without expense, and without loss of wages. Contest will close August 31st.

Each day a Coupon as below will appear in the paper. Cut it out, enter the name of your favorite on it and forward to the Gazette. The popularity of the successful candidate will be determined by the total number of votes cast.

A Premium on new subscriptions paid in advance will be made as follows: One month paid in advance, 100 votes; three months paid in advance, 400 votes; six months paid in advance, 1,000 votes; one year paid in advance, 2,500 votes. Old subscribers as well as new ones will receive on advance payments--during June 4 votes for every cent of money paid in; during July 3 votes for every cent of advance subscription money, and during August 2 votes for every cent of advance subscription money paid in.

The contest will be square, and new subscribers will be those not on our books June 4th. Plenty of hustle will win the prize.
